The Canadian Textile Industry Association (CTIA) accepts as members all Canadian stakeholders in the textile, apparel, and footwear production and supply chain. It includes universities, research and development centres, fibre suppliers, and textiles, apparel, and footwear manufacturers. Universities, R&D centres, and fibre suppliers must have facilities or representation in Canada. Apparel and footwear manufacturers must demonstrate that they use Canadian-made textiles in their production processes or must demonstrate the unavailability of those Canadian-made textiles. International Associations and Organizations in the chemical, textile, fibre, apparel, and footwear industries are eligible to join the CTIA as Partner Associations.

Please answer the questions below to confirm your eligibility to become a CTIA member.
